GWWO Welcomes Lindsey DeHenzel and Zach Grajewski

Baltimore, MD (July 15) – GWWO, Inc./Architects welcomes Lindsey DeHenzel and Zach Grajewski to the firm.

Lindsey DeHenzel joins our firm with 4 years of professional design experience, including transportation design, urban design, residential and interior design. She is the co-founder and regular contributor of the AIA|DC blog which she has run with 3 of her friends for the past two years. Lindsey received her Bachelor and Masters of Architecture degrees from The Catholic University of America in 2009 and 2011, respectively.

Zach Grajewski, a former GWWO student intern, re-joins our firm after receiving his Masters of Architecture from the University of Cincinnati this past May. Prior to, Zach received his Bachelor of Science in Architecture from Ball State University in 2012 and completed multiple internships during his masters' study.

GWWO, Inc./Architects is a full service architectural firm that specializes in the planning and design of cultural and educational facilities, with emphasis on quality design that is both inspirational and evocative. Current projects include the new Pikes Peak Visitor Complex in Colorado Springs, CO; a STEM Building at the Community College of Baltimore County Catonsville; the new Cade Museum for Creativity + Invention in Gainesville, FL; and the new Severna Park High School in Severna Park, MD. The firm is celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 2015.
