GWWO Welcomes Lindsay McCook and Matthew Ames

Baltimore, MD (July 2) – GWWO, Inc./Architects welcomes two new architects, Lindsay McCook and Matthew Ames, to the firm.

Lindsay McCook, LEED AP BD+C, received her Bachelor of Architectural History from the University of Virginia in 2006, her Masters of Science in Historic Preservation from Columbia University in 2009, and her Masters of Architecture from Tulane University in 2012. She joins us with over three years of experience, having most recently focused on affordable housing and adaptive reuse projects. Lindsay is involved in many organizations, including AIA Baltimore, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and the Association for Preservation Technology.

Matthew Ames earned his Bachelor of Architecture from Carnegie Mellon University in 2004. He brings over 10 years of experience on a wide variety of project types including higher education and K-12 projects, as well as research centers, medical office buildings, commercial retail, office buildings, and large multi-family apartments.

GWWO, Inc./Architects is a full service architectural firm that specializes in the planning and design of cultural and educational facilities, with emphasis on quality design that is both inspirational and evocative. Current projects include the new Pikes Peak Visitor Complex in Colorado Springs, CO; a STEM Building at the Community College of Baltimore County Catonsville; the new Cade Museum for Creativity + Invention in Gainesville, FL; and the new Severna Park High School in Severna Park, MD. The firm is celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 2015.
