GWWO Welcomes Four New Employees

Baltimore, MD (October 15) – GWWO, Inc./Architects welcomes Courtney Horst, Danielle Peters, Nick Drummond, and Junjie Wu to the firm.

Courtney Horst joins GWWO's architectural staff with over two years of experience in educational, commercial, and residential facilities. Since earning her Bachelor of Architecture from Virginia Tech University in 2013, Courtney has worked on a variety of project types including residential, urban mixed-use buildings, higher education and community center facilities, ranging from historic renovations and feasibility studies to additions and renovations.

Danielle Peters joins the firm with three years of experience in the profession. After receiving her Bachelor of Architecture from Penn State University in 2012, Danielle began working on commercial, residential, higher education, K-12 education, and religious facility projects that include master planning, renovations, and adaptive reuses. Danielle is currently a member of the AIA Emerging Professionals Committee.

Nick Drummond also joins the firm's architectural staff. Nick earned his Bachelor of Architecture from the University of Maryland in 2012. Since then he has spent time working independently on smaller rehabilitation projects and has served as a board member, lead designer, and project coordinator for a non-profit preservation organization in upstate NY that is dedicated to the restoration and adaptive reuse of some of the area's most historic architectural gems.

Junjie Wu, known as JJ, joins the firm as our new assistant graphics specialist. In this role he will assist in the production of renderings, walk-thrus and other materials to support project design and presentation needs. JJ attended Central South University of Forestry and Technology in China before transferring to Ball State University where he earned his Bachelor of Urban Planning and Development in 2013 followed by his Master of Urban Design in 2015. While pursuing both degrees, JJ held multiple internships where he gained valuable knowledge on the design of community-based projects and the understanding of urban space and environments.

GWWO, Inc./Architects is a full service architectural firm that specializes in the planning and design of cultural and educational facilities, with emphasis on responsible design that is inspirational, evocative and progressive. Current projects include the new Pikes Peak Summit Complex; the Mathematics and Science Hall at the Community College of Baltimore County; the new Cade Museum for Creativity + Invention in Gainesville, FL; and the new Severna Park High School. The firm is celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 2015.
